Arkadelphia to Repeal Auto Tax

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) —Arkadelphia's Board of Directors have voted to repeal the city's special automobile license tax, Mayor Bob Riley said Tuesday.

The old City Council levied the tax before voters approved to have been used by two men who robbed a bank of $5,000 here earlier in the day.

Officers had set up road-strip pit outside Hartford several hours after two efficient young gunmen robbed the Farmers Bank of Hartford of about $5,000.

The men stepped out of a falling snow, robbed the bank and then escaped over icy roads.

No one was physically harmed.

Officers had set up road-blocks in two Arkansas counties and two Oklahoma counties near Hartford, a small community 38 miles south of Fort Smith.

There were only three persons, all bank employees, in the bank when the two men, wearing all black, walked into the bank about 9:30 a.m.

"This is it," one man said. "We're not fooling. We want the money."

"Do what you're told and you won't get hurt," the other man said. Both were armed with pistols.

The employees in the bank were vice president Harold Wolverson and two tellers, Mrs. Donna Dunn and Mrs. Connie Hamilton.

Mrs. Hamilton said she put the money in a white, silk-like sack. She and Wolverson were ordered to lie on the floor on their stomachs.

Meanwhile, the other man took Mrs. Dunn to the vault to put more money in a sack. She said she had dumped all the money except silver and was told to put everything in except the pennies. She said she did.

The men locked the three employees in the bank and escaped.

Urge U.S. to Try Again for Peace

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Senate leaders joined today in urging action to accept what they interpreted as willingness on the part of Peking and Hanoi to reopen the Geneva Conference to talk Viet Nam peace terms.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana prepared to appeal in a Senate speech for new administration efforts to get the conference, which negotiated the 1954 division of Viet Nam, back into session for fresh negotiations.

Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee proposed Tuesday the sessions be reconvened. His proposal won support from Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., dean of Senate Republicans and a member of Fulbright's committee.

The three senators based their fresh hope for negotiations on a North Vietnamese statement transmitted by Radio Hanoi and Peking's New China News Agency. The statement said the Viet Nam question "falls within the competence of the 1954 Geneva Conference on Indochina."

Fulbright said that if China and North Viet Nam are willing to join in discussions, "why not take them up on it?"

"There is some logic in utilizing the same group which attempted to settle the war in 1954," he said. "If the effort in the United Nations fails, why not try to get the Geneva Conference reconvened?"

Led by opposition from the Soviet Union and France, the 15 member U.N. Security Council delayed until today a vote on a U.S. request for peace discussions. Observers said the opposition virtually killed any chances for immediate U.N. action.

Aiken forecast failure for President Johnson's effort to get U.N. action on the Viet Nam question, although he said he is glad the attempt is under way.

"Our difficulty lies in the fact that nobody in the Communist world — and some in our own — believes that we really and seriously want peace," he said. "I am convinced that one man does and that's President Johnson."

Mansfield said that despite Russian and French opposition, "the door has not quite been shut yet" on U.N. efforts.

The United States was not a party to the 1954 Geneva meeting although it accepted its terms. Britain and the Soviet Union are cochairmen of the conference and it would require agreement between them for its reconvening.

Whereas these attacks are part of a deliberate and systematic campaign of aggression that the Communist regime in North Viet Nam has been waging against its neighbors and the nations joined with them in the collective defense of their freedom;

Whereas the United States is assisting the peoples of Southeast Asia to protect their freedom and has no territorial, military or political ambitions in that area, but desires only that these peoples should be left in peace to work out their own destinies in their own way;

Now, therefore, be it resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

19 Young Puerto Ricans Die in Wreck

By REID G. MILLER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Nine teen young Puerto Ricans, who came to Florida's fields to earn some extra dollars, were killed Tuesday when a farm labor bus collided with a diesel engine.

Fifteen others were badly injured as the engine crushed the bus like an accordion and pushed it 432 feet.

It was the second-worst traffic accident in Florida's history and another in a long series of accidents involving vehicles that carry Florida's field hands.

Friends of the ruelo rucans heard the news at the labor camp where the bus was bound following a day in a pole-bean field.

"Did these men have families," a man asked one of the few who spoke English.

"They were Puerto Ricans," was the reply. "In Puerto Rico everybody has a family."

Conductor Edward B. Shaw said the Seaboard Air Line Railroad engine, which carried only a single caboose, was traveling about 30 miles an hour when it reached the crossing, about 15 miles from downtown Miami.

"The bus just ran in front of us," Shaw said. "Then I heard the racket. I looked back and couldn't see anything but dust. Then it settled and I saw bodies lying at the side of the road."

"The brakeman yelled, 'Good Lord, we've killed a bunch of people.'"

"They were all hollering and crying."

The bus was hit squarely in the middle and wrapped around the front of the engine.

Battered straw and felt hats were scattered along the road bed. Inside the bus were shoes, shreds of clothing, a battered tin cup and a paper bag that carried lunch to the field.

Police and firemen worked for hours under floodlights to pry the bus from the engine with wreckers and acetylene torches.

Friends from the labor camp, called to identify the dead, crossed themselves as they lifted each blanket.

Some electrical equipment for a warning light was strewn by the crossing. The railroad had decided to install a flashing light after another collision several weeks ago when a tomato bus knocked a train off the track. The light had not been finished.

Honors

Gwendolyn Smith

A senior Sociology Major at

Bishop College, Dallas, Gwendolyn Smith, has been named to Who's Who among students in American Colleges and Universities, a national honor organization.

This group recognizes students outstanding scholastically, participation and leadership in school activities. Her name will appear in the 1965-66 annual directory of distinguished students selected from over 800 colleges.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George (Boots) Smith Jr. of Hope.

Congo Quits Trade With Rhodesia

The Congo government banned all trade with Rhodesia today, and the Foreign Ministry said the ban will cut off 87 per cent of the Congo's coal and meat.

Hardest hit will be Katanga province, where the big copper refiners depend on Rhodesia for most of their coal.

Joseph Kalumba, secretary of state in the Foreign Ministry, said the government is seeking other sources for coal and meat. Trade in the two commodities with Rhodesia had amounted to $20 to $30 million annually.

The trade suspension was ordered to conform with the economic boycott voted by the Organization of African Unity against the white minority government in Rhodesia.

Health and Education Bill Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sends a formal bid to Congress today for legislation to help "spread the benefits of education to every corner of the earth" and launch an international program of disease eradication.

These are key parts of his foreign aid program for the 1967 fiscal year, which he transmitted to Congress Tuesday. But he underscores the importance of education and health by stressing them in a special supplementary message.

These new programs are to be financed, if Congress consents, by more than $350 million in appropriations for the year beginning next July 1.

Johnson wants a new international education act which will commit this country to a campaign to spread the benefits of education throughout the globe on grounds that: "Nothing is more critical to the future of liberty and the fate of mankind."

For this, he told Congress Tuesday he would like more than $200 million for education activities by the Agency for International Development, an increase of 50 per cent.

In addition, he is asking for enactment of an international health act to fight disease, with appropriations of more than $150 million as a starter, an increase of about two-thirds over this year. Some of the new programs will benefit this country as well as other nations.

"We now have the capacity," Johnson said in his foreign aid message, "to eliminate smallpox from the list of man's natural enemies; to eradicate malaria in the Western Hemisphere and in large areas of Africa and Asia; and to relieve much of the suffering now caused by measles, cholera, rabies and other epidemic diseases."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jesse James? Oh, he was really a good guy and the only reason he went around robbing banks and killing people was because people shoved him around and didn't understand him.

Besides, according to the current ABC version, he was "cursed with a quick and restless gun," it is explained in the ballad that opens the show each Monday night. Just Monday night he was sweet enough to take a lot of money he and his pals stole in a bank robbery and give it to the widow of a gang member who got killed in the exploit.

Daniel Boone? Oh, he's a tall, G-dropping, fellow who lives in a stockade and carries a gun and fights Indians—except his best friend, who is a feather-wearing Indian who went to Harvard and speaks much better English than Dan.

Ulysses S. Grant? Oh, he was President of the United States or something a long time ago and spent most of his time hiring secret agents. He had one secret agent named James West, according to CBS, and he rode around in a private railroad car, keeping crazy inventors and keeping important visitors from being killed and kissing pretty girls.

Then this Grant, according to NBC, had another agent, a man who had been kicked out of the cavalry for cowardice. Grant knew this fellow was no coward but he didn't do anything about it because he had lots of secret missions he wanted him to perform.

A youngster in the impressionable years could certainly get a strange version of American history — particularly as it applied to the Old West — if his exposure to it were confined to television series.

CBS' dinner-hour news show became a colorcast Monday night. At least most of the news film and reporter Walter Cronkite blossomed forth in color. NBC's Huntley-Brinkley show has been in color for some time now.

Color film of action in Viet Nam shows forcefully the ugly face of war, but it also underscores its drama. Some of CBS' film of Washington after the big snow looked like a delicate Christmas card.

Turnback Funds for Street Lights

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office said Monday that state highway turnback funds could be spent on street lights.

The office said street lights apparently constitute a street facility within the meaning of the law. The opinion went to City Street Commissioner Charles B. Freeman of Eureka Springs.

UN Troops Keep Peace on Gaza Strip

GAZA (AP) — Stretched along 145 miles of desert frontier, a thin line of blue-helmeted United Nations troops quietly keeps the peace in an almost forgotten trouble spot.

Only a few years ago, headlines were full of the Gaza Strip as Egyptian and Israeli forces battled in this coastal area of Palestine.

Today the strip is quiet. The U.N. Emergency Force — UNEF — keeps it that way.

Western, Communist and so-called non-aligned nations combined to form an effective force for peace. More than 400 soldiers from Yugoslavia stand with 4,000 troops from Canada, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, India and Brazil to keep Israelis and Egyptians separated in the Gaza Strip and along the International frontier in Sinai.

The force first took up positions in March 1957.

"Incidents have been few," comments Lt. Col. Gregers Bernhoff, commander of the joint Danish-Norwegian battalion. "There have been some attempts by both sides to cross the border from time to time but no serious clashes have taken place. Farmers have been able to cultivate their lands and to take care of their livestock within a few meters of the demarcation line and people on both sides go about their business without interference from each other."

Orange groves flourishing in what was desert land a decade ago testified to the force's effectiveness in Gaza.

The strip itself is Egyptian-administered with full customs and passport barriers at its frontiers with Egypt proper.

On the outskirts of the principal towns — Gaza, Rafah, Khan Yunis and Beit el Ballah — a ditch three feet deep and three feet wide marks the 35-mile-long armistice demarcation line between the Gaza Strip and Israel.

To the south, Canadian and Yugoslav contingents cover the 110-mile frontier between Israel and Egypt that runs through the sun-scorched Sinai to Ras al Masri in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Along the entire border, the U.N. patrols, their Israeli counterparts and Egyptian observation posts are testimony to the threat of new outbreaks of trouble.

"Sometimes forces from either side may try to cross the border, in something like a game," says Norwegian Maj. Rolf Staenn. "If nothing happens and we intercept them, the game is over."

The U.N. force is to be cut in March by some 600 troops under terms of a reorganization. The reduction will result mostly from the withdrawal of the battalion from Sweden, which has other peace-keeping commitments on Cyprus.

Contingents from Norway, Denmark, India, Canada and Brazil will stretch out their troops to compensate for the pull-out of the Swedish battalion.

The force's commander in chief, Brazil's Maj. Gen. Syseno Sarmiento, has logistics, operations, personnel, legal, financial, engineering and medical sections in a Gaza headquarters. It cost $17.75 million to maintain the force last year.

"The expense is justified by the results obtained here," said one officer. "The orange groves you see along the frontier today are mainstays of the economy. They have grown up under the protection of the U.N. Emergency Force."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Battel

A Plea From A Bereaved Mother

Dear Helen: I am writing this letter for the sake of all parents who have recently lost their infant son or daughter. We just lost our baby. I can't put into words the heartbreak my husband and I have suffered and continue to suffer because of all the letters and advertisements we get saying it is time to buy insurance, or get vaccinations, or "stop in and pick up your gift for the new baby."

If only these people would take time to read the paper and find out whether this child lived or died, it would save parents so much added torture.

Please, Helen, print this so that perhaps others will not have to cry again, as we have.

— Kathy

Dear Helen: Our father thinks he's still a youngster. He's pushing 63 and last year he learned to water ski, which isn't too bad. This winter it's snow skiing, which is worse, and he says next spring he'll go for sky diving. What do you think about this last? — Worried

Dear Worried: I'd say he's probably past the age of "descent," but he's also past the age of consent. All you can do is cross your fingers and hope for a soft landing. Just be glad he is still able to be that active. — H.

Dear Helen: I think shoe clerks should have to be licensed, after taking special examinations on fitting feet properly. A few are conscientious, but too many couldn't care less, just so they sell. Results: corns, bunions, even aching backs.

I know — because I work in a shoe store where they had a whole wall of "slow-movers" — off sizes, outdated, poorly designed. These had little numbers written by the manager on the corner of the boxes: 35c, 25c and 15c. Everytime we sold a pair of these shoes we got the specified bonus, and you can just guess which shoes got pushed by the clerks, whether they fitted or not. Then they'd laugh about it after the "sucker" left the store, compare their sales pitches, etc.

Of course better stores don't do this, but people who can't afford expensive shoes can also have aching feet — and they can least afford them because they are on their feet more. — Ex-Show Clerk

Dear Helen: I met Mike a few months ago. He has just obtained a divorce, and he has one child whom I love as much as I love Mike.

The thing that bothers me is that his brother is also divorced and so are his parents. Their reasons seem justified, but with all three in the same boat, it makes me wonder. We are planning to be married. Will I end up divorced too, and does divorce run in families? — Troubled

Dear Troubled: There's no doubt that certain families are more divorce-prone than others, but you can't always blame this on character defects. Sometime it is poor judgment — a child jumps at marriage to avoid home conflicts, and finds himself in bigger mess than he left. Children of divorce are apt to marry for the wrong reasons because they've never been exposed to the right ones.

A six months engagement should prove you've both made the right choice. Set the date for August and do a lot of discussing in the time between. — H.

Bombings to Mean More Cost, Taxes

By SA MDAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Renewed U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam and stepped-up fighting in South Viet Nam could mean:

1. Increased U.S. military spending in the period ahead.

2. More pressure for tax increases later on.

3. More fire under what as of now is only a simmering threat of further inflation.

President Johnson stresses that the quest for a peaceful solution continues.

But resumption of full-scale operations in Southeast Asia removes for the present one of the uncertainties that have been plaguing businessmen and congressmen alike.

With peace possibilities apparently still remote, government, business and the stock market all will make their plans on the supposition that the United States will proceed for an indefinite period on a small war basis.

From the economy this foreshadows:

—Appropriations for the Viet Nam war — slated at $10 billion — are more likely to be increased later on than be trimmed.

—Defense industries can look for still more orders, more production, more jobs.

—Increased demand for some metals in short supply, such as copper, needed for military hardware will generate still more pressure for higher prices.

—Demand for many other basic materials, even if now in ample supply, will grow instead of slacken. This will support their price levels and promise increased production schedules.

The U.S. economic growth has been so rapid over the last five years that it can easily take the present scale of the Viet Nam war in stride without cramping production of civilian goods or putting the U.S. Treasury under any great strain.

But although spending for the Great Society programs is scheduled to be stepped up by $3 billion in the next fiscal year, the appropriation request would have been more than that without the present cost of the Viet Nam war.

Any further escalation of military efforts might cause Congress to reconsider the amounts to be spared for the domestic programs. Many communities, business firms, and citizens have a stake in these.

The Odds Favor The Local Talent

By DICK KLEINER

Hollywood Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

(Last in a series.)

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—A large percentage of Hollywood's working starlets are local girls. It's not that Southern California breeds prettier females, but rather a simple question of logistics.

To get anywhere in Hollywood's film jungle takes time.

The competition is fierce. So the girl who lives at home, and thus has no desperation about earning a living, has a distinct advantage.

Mary Hughes is a good example of how this operates. She comes from Pacific Palisades, on the western fringe of Los Angeles. Her father is a cameraman at Universal Studios, her mother was a model.

The idea of acting always appealed to her. But, because she lived here and had connections (through her father), there was no rush about it. She waited until she had finished high school before she even tried.

Meanwhile, she had a happy and normal life. There was no need to find some other job to support herself, which is why the kids from Iowa or South Carolina wind up as car hops and supermarket check-out clerks. Mary Hughes spent her afternoons and weekends and vacations at the beach, growing tall and beautiful and suntanned.

When she was 18, she went with her father over to American-International Pictures, the company that was making all the beach pictures. They took one look at her and signed her to a contract.

You've seen her and her bikini in seven AIP films. Her parts have ranged from small to tiny, but whenever they need a tall blonde in a bikini, there is Mary Hughes.

The studio provides her with acting lessons — she studies four nights a week at Francis Lederer's American National Theater Arts classes. And she goes to movies almost every night — "the early show, around five or so" — because she learns a lot about acting from the movies.

After that, she generally goes dancing at The Trip, a rock 'n' roll dance establishment, where she is one of the regulars. And, whenever she has a free hour or so, she heads back for the beach and her surfboard.

MARY HUGHES: No change from before.

So her life has changed little from the days before she became a starlet—the beach, the movies and The Trip are still the big things in her life.

One new thing is her own apartment, which she got when she turned 21 and had a regular salary coming in.

Whether or not Mary Hughes ever becomes a star is anybody's guess. But one thing—so far, her career has been no struggle, because she's a local girl.

Michigan's Big Ten Reign Is in Jeopardy

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan's reign as champions of the Big Ten basketball conference is in jeopardy. Illinois is ready to take over.

Don Freeman of Illinois ripped off five consecutive points in the last 30 seconds to thwart a Michigan rally and give the Fighting Illini an upset 99-93 road victory in the top college basketball game Tuesday night.

"If we can win at home we're in," said Harry Combes, Illinois coach, after Freeman's closing heroics capped his aggregate 33-point performance.

Illinois, currently 4-1 in the conference to 5-1 for Michigan and Michigan State, has six home games left with Ohio State, Northwestern, Indiana, Minnesota, Purdue and Iowa, in addition to three on the road against Michigan State, Minnesota and Northwestern.

"I have to say Illinois is leading the conference since they have won three (or four) on the road and we have lost at home," declared Dave Strack, Michigan coach.

All-America Cazzie Russell, with 33 points, sparked a late Michigan rally that almost pulled the game out for the Wolverines, ninth-ranked in this week's Associated Press poll. They tied the score at 91-91, setting the stage for Freeman, who scored seven of the last eight Illinois points to snap Michigan's seven-game winning streak.

Freeman, a 6-foot-3 senior and captain of the Illinois, broke the tie with two free throws. Larry Hinton added another charity toss to make it 94-93. Jim Clawson got two free throws for Michigan before Freeman reeled off his closing five points on a jump shot, a tip-in and a free throw.

Rich Jones, a 6-7 sophomore from Memphis, backed up Freeman with 31 points before fouling out in the last two minutes.

In other games involving teams in the AP Top Ten, fourth-ranked Providence beat Canisius 84-71, unbeaten Texas Western, No. 6, crushed New Mexico State 104-78 for its 15th in a row and Bradley whipped Cincinnati, No. 10, 67-56. All were home-court victories.

Bob Kovalski, a 6-foot-8 senior known as "Big K," came off the bench to pace Providence over Canisius with 22 points. Bobby Joe Hill and Nevil Shed each got 20 points to lead Texas Western over New Mexico State. Bradley, walloped by Cincinnati 85-69 two weeks ago, turned the tables on the Bearcats led by Joe Allen's 19 points.

A lay-up by Johnny Moates after a pass from Tom Green in the last 20 seconds gave Richmond an 82-81 victory that ended Virginia Tech's seven-game winning streak.

Other home-court triumphs were chalked up by Minnesota over Northwestern 86-76, De Paul over Indiana 100-70, Detroit over Western Michigan 91-79, St. Louis over Louisville 64-60, Mississippi State over Georgia 58-54 and Texas Tech over Texas Christian 92-89.

Clemson, St. Mary's of California and Manhattan won on the road. Clemson edged Wake Forest 72-71, Manhattan downed Rutgers 85-75 and St. Mary's took Portland 87-68.

At home or on the road makes no difference to the Rice Owls. They lost their 26th in a row, counting a carryover of 12 from last season. They were beaten on the road by Baylor 88-76.

Man Is Found Frozen to Death

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The body of a man who had apparently frozen to death was found Monday in Russellville's industrial section.

Sheriff Otto Brinkman said the victim, Charles D. Campbell, 42, of Russellville, had apparently gone to sleep in his car. Brinkman said Campbell had been dead since Friday.

$100,000 Hope Classic Underway

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The golfing marathon that bears the name of Bob Hope — it's the Hope $100,000 Desert Classic — got under way today and will continue, whether you can stand the suspense or not, for five days.

The tournament sports a select field of 28 professionals, including the 1965 winner, Bill Casper Jr., Arnold Palmer, and the newest champion of the winter circuit, former U. S. Open champion Ken Venturi.

It also has 384 promising amateurs, which tends to complicate matters for at least four days.

Among the amateurs is, you might guess, Bob Hope.

The official pairing sheet is about the size of the Palm Springs telephone directory. Hope is identified as a member of the A-184 team. His pro is Q-30, which is possibly more intriguing than James Bond's 007.

A later report will go into more details about Mr. Q-30.

On the serious side, the tournament is 90 holes and the issue will not be decided until the fifth day, Sunday.

Casper is the logical favorite but, of course, Palmer, as well as the rejuvenated Venturi, merit attention.

Venturi, the 1964 National Open champion, reclaimed his stature with a brilliant comeback from behind victory in the San Francisco Lucky International last weekend.

It ended more than a year of misery and pain for the handsome San Franciscan, not to mention tournament disappointments in a fight against a circulatory ailment in his hands.

The tournament play is over four courses. Each of the 128 pros has a different threesome of amateurs each day for the first four rounds.

The pros go it alone on the final round.

The country club courses in use are Indian Wells, the host and fifth-round site; Bermuda Dunes, La Quinta, and Eldorado. All are par 36-36-72.

Robinson Bolsters AL '300 Club'

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Baltimore's acquisition of slugger outfielder Frank Robinson from Cincinnati has bolstered the American League's dwindling crop of 300 hitters.

Robinson compiled a .303 lifetime average in the 10 National League seasons. The only other American Leaguers with 300 averages after five or more seasons in the majors are New York's Mickey Mantle and Detroit's Al Kaline, both with 306 marks.

The National League, however, is fat with seven players in the charmed circle. They are: Hank Aaron .320, Willie Mays .311, Roberto Clemente .309, Orlando Cepeda .308, Tommy Davis .303, Harvey Kuenn .303 and Vada Pinson .302.

Tech in Win Over TCU in Top Spot Bid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas Tech moved into the threatening position in the hectic Southwest Conference basketball race Tuesday night by beating the team that was contesting it for the spot — Texas Christian — 92-89.

Tech took over undisputed second place, a game back of Texas A&M.

It wasn't easy and Texas Tech was feeling pretty desperate when it left for intermission, behind 48-46. And it was 3 1/2 minutes deep in the second period before Tech could take over the lead for the first time.

TCU tied it up at 82-82 on Wayne Kreis' basket with five minutes to go and he sank another field goal to put the Frogs ahead 84-82. But the man in the clutch Dub Malaise tied it up with free throws, sub Dave Olsen sank a layup and Tech never was behind again.

Texas A&M, which leads the race with a 5-0 record, watched the game with great interest. The Aggies play Texas Christian at College Station Saturday.

Baylor handed Rice its 14th straight defeat and climbed into a tie with Texas Christian for third place in the conference standings. The Bears broke out of a nip-and-tuck first half to take the lead at intermission 44-37, then had little trouble fighting off the Owls in the second half to win 88-76. Darrell Hardy and Jimmy Turner got 21 and 20 points respectively to put Baylor over.

Texas whipped Howard Payne 95-83 in a nonconference game. It snapped a four-game losing streak for the Longhorns and ended an eight-game winning streak for the Yellow Jackets. Dale Dotson of Texas shot 21 points and so did Eddie Nelson of Howard Payne.

Southern Methodist tries to hang in the race against Arkansas at Fayetteville tonight. Arkansas is 2-2 while SMU is 1-3 and must win or just about give it up.

Block, in the third period, was trying to get an eye for the goal while Johnson managed to get in a few. But Yerger continued to trail, 27-23.

In the fourth period, the Tigers caught and passed the Owls for a few moments when Scott popped the net. But the Owls proved they had not quit and at the end of the game, Columbia led 39-35.

High point men of the Junior boys were: Yerger - Johnson with 11, Columbia - Tucker, 12. The Senior boys Yerger - Stuart with 28, Columbia - Mallory, 32.

Tiger Teams Drop a Pair to Magnolia

Yerger Tigers suffered a blow when the Junior boys lost 39-35 and the senior boys lost 63-74 to the Columbia Owls of Magnolia last night.

Yerger and Columbia in the senior boys competition played a close game until the fourth period when Columbia got a 14 point lead.

The Tigers and Owls in the first period were making play for point until there were only 3 seconds left to play. Then a free throw from Stuart gave the tigers a one point lead over the Owls.

The score was Yerger 18 to Owls 17 at the end of the period. The Owl's ran out a head of the Tiger's as the second period was half over, when Mallory warmed up, which made the score, 33-28.

But they never gave up. Tigers managed to pull out of the whole when Johnny Smith and Ronald Stuart were down waiting for the ball which Standekes and Mauldin supplied them with.

McAdams was also in the picture putting all he had in the game.

Yerger was leading again at the half 39-35.

The Owl's quickly closed the small gap and moved out 43-40 early in the 3rd period. Yerger was still in there trying, but the wise Owls were leading 48-55 at the end of the period.

The Owl's got even wiser and got a 14 point lead early in the 4th period. Stuart was getting hotter as he and the other Tigers were trying to close the gap but it was too late. As the horn sounded, the Owls led, 74-63.

Yerger's Junior boys in beginning their first quarter, led 2-0, when Frank Prater made two free throws. They later forfeited the lead to Columbia and at the end of the half, the score was 7-5.

The Junior Tigers at the end of the half, had not gotten the lead from the Owls, but they weren't far behind. The score was 16-13.

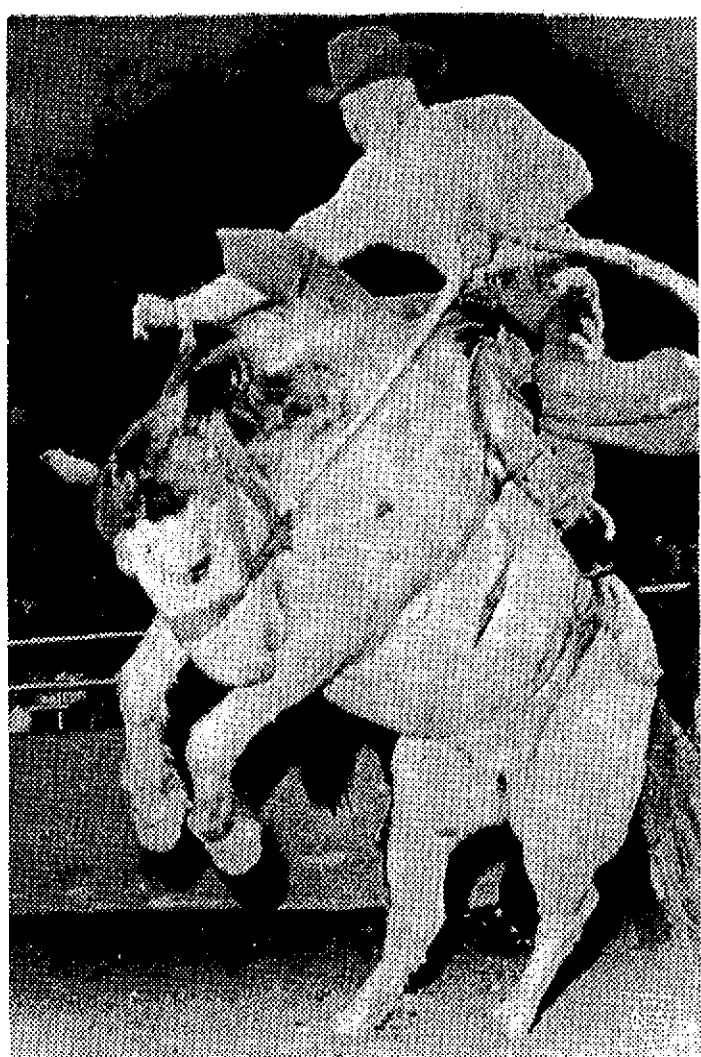

Block, in the third period, was trying to get an eye for the goal while Johnson managed to get in a few. But Yerger continued to trail, 27-23.

Squatters Tossed Out by the Army

By JOHN HALL

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — The Air Force flew 100 officers and airmen into it deactivated Greenville base early today to counter an invasion by a band of Negro squatters.

"We will secure the base from further demonstrators," said Maj. George Hennrikus, an Air Force information officer. "Under no circumstances will our men be equipped with weapons."

The Negroes, along with a few white civil rights workers, camped around two pot-bellied stoves through the night in a determined bid to make their capture of an abandoned building force special antipoverty help from the federal government.

The Negroes said they were hungry and had no jobs or land. The Air Force contingent, flown in from five bases, bolstered Lt. Col. George Andrews, the only Air Force officer on the base, and his 27 civilians.

Most of the Air Force troops were air policemen. There were also some medical personnel.

Takes Luck to Sink 444 Yard Drive

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — I doesn't take muscle but a lot of luck and a good wind o sink a drive of 444 yards, says the man who scored golf's longest hole-in-one.

Then, adds Bob Mitera dolefully, you spend the rest of your life trying to make people believe it.

"Nobody does," added the 21-year-old Creighton University student today after being honored as the sport's long-distance hole-in-one king.

"People look at me and say, 'You've got to be kidding. Nobody can score a 444-yard hole-in-one, specially a squirt like you. Soon, I get so I feel like I've committed a crime rather than made a hole-in-one.'"

"So I quit telling anybody."

But Golf Digest Magazine, which serves as a clearing house for holes-in-one (There were a record 14,154 last year) had no intention of keeping it a secret.

They flew Bob out from his home in Omaha, Neb., presented him a huge trophy and subjected him to New York sports writers.

Mitera looks anything but the part of a golf Hercules. He stands only 5-foot-6, weighs 165 pounds and wears glasses. He is an English major. He is a pop hitter normally off the tee, averaging around 240 yard.

Apologetically, he told how he accomplished his amazing feat Oct. 7, while playing with some Creighton teammates over Omaha's Miracle Hill course, 6,700 yards, par 70.

"It was mostly luck," he explained. "The 10th hole is straightaway with a sharp drop-off about 290 yards from the tee. There was a wind with gusts up to 50 miles an hour."

"The wind caught the ball, and it carried to the drop-off, then rolled into the hole. Even I was astounded."

Until Mitera cranked up and let fly, the longest hole-in-one on record measured 427 yards. Lou Kretlow, the former major league pitcher, made it on the 16th hole of the Oklahoma City Lake Hefner course March 23, 1961.

Hope Gave Hope to Many

OSAN AB — How does a deaf mute say thanks? According to the men of Air Force OSI Detachment 4506 at Osan AB, Korea, no words were necessary as they delivered three large boxes of clothing to the Suwon Deaf and Mute School — the children's happy expressions told the story.

The clothing was a contribution from the First Assembly of God Church in Hope, Ark. made through James A. Thompson of Detachment 4506.

The Suwon Deaf and Mute School, which is the only school that nearly 60 handicapped children have ever known, is one of the few officially recognized deaf and mute facilities in the Republic of Korea. The school is supported entirely by contributions, and has no regular income. The students are from "unfortunate" families. Plans are underway to include mentally retarded and physically handicapped children in the student body. The students and faculty send a warm "Thank You" to the people of the First Assembly of God Church.

Four Youths Thinks Its a Nightmare

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — What do four youngsters do when their real mother dies by gunfire and only nine years later, they must stand with their adopted mother in the glaring spotlight of a murder trial?

If one of them is Martha Mossler, 15, she has bad dreams, and she cries sometimes. But she holds her head high and looks forward to a time when the nightmare will end and she will become a mother, too.

If one is Danny Mossler, 14, he discovers who are his real friends. And he faces the stares of some and says, "I'm a Mossler and proud of it."

Martha and Danny and their brothers, Chris, 12, and Eddie, 11, are the adopted children of Jacques Mossler, the rich banker who was killed June 30, 1961, in a Miami apartment.

Their blonde second mother, Candace Mossler, is on trial for her life, charged with his murder.

When the four slender, handsome children walked into the apartment that night to find the body of Mossler pierced by 39 stab wounds, they experienced for the second time the shock of a beloved parent's violent death.

In 1957, similar violence had exploded in their home in Chicago, when they were very young. Their father, Leonard Glenn, shot their mother to death to free her, he said, of evil spirits and he killed their baby brother, Alexander.

Then Glenn, now an Illinois mental patient, took his four surviving children on a wild ride through a blizzard, until his car stuck in a snowdrift and police were able to close in for the rescue.

When Jacques Mossler learned that the four were to become wards of the state, he offered to take them. Others also came forward, but only Mossler wanted them all.

Despite the shock and the grief of two family tragedies, Martha, Danny, Chris and Eddie remain remarkably strong and well adjusted.

Martha, a tall girl with striking good looks and long dark hair that hangs to her shoulders, smiles as she talks of her plight.

But her eyes mist when she says: "Some people I thought were my friends treat me now like I was something from outer space. But they aren't real friends unless they stick with you. We didn't do anything."

When Mrs. Mossler came from her palatial Houston home to stand trial, she transferred the children to a private school in Miami. But they failed to find the anonymity they had sought.

Before they were recognized, Eddie said, "I made some new friends in Miami and everything seemed fine. But when they found out I was a Mossler, they weren't my friends any more."

Life in Arkansas

Three names stand out in the recent history of the Watson family of eastern Arkansas—"Red Bill", Samuel and William.

Together, they represent one century of service in the ministry, being commemorated this year.

"Red Bill" was the Rev. William M. Watson, who began in 1886 as a Methodist circuit rider serving communities in the Paragould area. He got his nickname from his red hair.

He served as a confederate soldier in the Civil War and once dressed a fellow soldier in lady's clothing so he could go into Northern occupied Jonesboro to report on the number of troops in town.

The Rev. Samuel G. Watson, born in Gainesville in Greene County, followed in his footsteps. He is 79 years old now and lives in Paragould.

The Rev. J. William Watson, now pastor of the Forrest City Methodist Church, carries on the family tradition of service to the ministry.

The city of De Queen has a problem—a "house without a home."

Worse, it is the house of Santa Claus, which has served the community the past two Christmases.

After Santa departed the first year, the handsome structure was stored in the exhibit building at the county fairgrounds. But that is no longer possible.

Now, long after St. Nick has gone, the house remains on the square where children visited it.

In Paragould, it wasn't Mary who had the little lamb. It was Chris. And the little lamb didn't follow his master, Chris Johnson, to school. He took it there.

The pupils loved the lamb, but the lamb didn't take to the surroundings of education too well. He slays home now.

The Paragould street department is having trouble with a sign. Long-time residents swear that the street is "Seventh Ave." and not named after a Swedish immigrant—"Sveneth" as it appears.

Visitors to Bella Vista Village, Ark., this summer will have the unusual experience of riding in a hand-crafted prairie schooner, pulled by a rare pair of matched Palomino mules.

The mules will work by day. By night the old-style wagon will be used as a chuck wagon for cookouts at the village.

"Remember the Maine"

It has never been proved that the Spaniards blew up the battleship Maine, the incident which provoked the Spanish-American War. Army engineers raised the wreckage in 1911, but no secrets of the explosion were found and experts have theorized that the explosion was internal.

Typical of GIs in the War Area

By JAMES A. BOURDIER

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — He's been spat upon. People have thrown garbage at him. Rocks have bounced off his heavy military helmet.

And this is the first time in his 24 years of life he hasn't seen snow at this time of the year.

It's been a warm winter for Sgt. Spring.

Sgt. William Spring of the U.S. 82nd Airborne, a native of Philadelphia, is typical of the American GIs who patrol the sometimes quiet, sometimes turbulent streets of Santo Domingo.

A U.S. army career man who has a son he's seen only once since beginning duty in the Dominican Republic last May, Spring commands a squad of five other airborne infantrymen and two jeeps, part of the Inter-American Peace Force.

Their duty is to patrol the streets in an area known as Ciudad Nueva but more commonly referred to as the old "rebel area."

Headquarters and billets are almost squarely in the center of this area — on Avenue Mella — one of the hot spots of sniper fire during last year's short revolution.

Each of Spring's two jeeps carries three men each and an M60 machine gun, plus shotguns loaded with birdshot, and a bazooka. Each soldier carries his own personal arms. Spring rides the right-hand seat of the lead jeep with a shotgun across his lap, constantly on the alert for any sign of trouble.

Interest Hike Has 2-Fold Purpose

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Boosting the interest rate on U.S. saving bonds is in part a necessity and in part a drive to raise the federal debt in the form least likely to feed inflation.

The U.S. Treasury's necessity arises from the drop in sales of E & H bonds in recent weeks and the rise in redemptions of bonds already held by the public. In 1965 sales slipped by 2.7 per cent from 1964. But in December sales were 11 per cent below those of a year ago.

At an interest rate of 3 1/2 per cent, paid since 1959, the bonds couldn't compete with returns that the small investor could get from several other forms of savings. And in recent weeks institutions offering these other forms — commercial banks, mutual savings banks, savings and loan associations — have been spiritedly competing to lure savings their way by raising still higher the interest or dividend they will pay.

The need to raise the federal debt — and to make such an increase as un-inflationary as possible — is clear.

Even the most optimistic view of the forthcoming administrative budget is that there will be yet another Treasury deficit. And the more comprehensive cash budget, including income and outgo for such agencies as Social Security and highways, is too lffy this far in advance of the 1967 fiscal year to insure the Treasury against the need to sell more securities to keep its cash till from being empty.

The security that has the least inflationary tinge probably is the savings bond. That is because the buyer uses money he might otherwise be spending for still more goods and services. And he usually puts the bond away, thus keeping the money out of circulation. He can't sell the bond to his banker or loan company, but redeem it only through the Treasury.

Some other Treasury securities, especially if sold to banks, are considered inflationary. They are marketable, and often dubbed the next thing to money itself. And the bank pays for them by setting up Treasury deposit accounts. While these are being drawn down, the bank has a lot of money on hand it can lend — thus swelling the supply of credit. Or it can sell the Treasury security and use the proceeds to make loans.

So the Treasury would like to see as many of its securities as possible in the hands of the individual savers — and preferably tucked away for a long stay in strong boxes.

Today's average American lives 22 years longer than in 1900.

Russians in for a New Treat

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russian people are in for a new treat. The Soviet Union is boosting shark meat in a big way.

The first batch of canned shark in Soviet history was produced this week at the Murmansk fish combine, a Soviet newspaper said Thursday.

Quoting a food expert as saying shark was rich in protein, the newspaper Trude said four varieties were canned: Shark natural, smoked shark, fried shark and sliced shark.

Healthier

Americans are healthier than most of the peoples of the world, at least in terms of the amount of money they spend on medical care. In 1960, the figure was $20 billion, six times as much as in 1940, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The Jacobys discuss responses to weak two bids today.

Jim: "It is possible to build up very complicated methods of responding to and rebidding weak two bids but it seems that the simple one in which the two no-trump response is forcing, the raise an invitation to the opener to go on to game, and the bid of a new suit to play it there, works out very well."

Oswald: "This is easy to learn. The complication comes in the rebid after the forcing two no-trump response. The simplest way is that opener rebids his suit to show a minimum type two bid and some other suit to show a good weak two bid."

Jim: "Today's hand shows how to get to a slam this way. South has a sound weak two spades. North's first impulse is to jump to game and forget about a slam but there is some slight slam chance and North sees no harm in exploring possibilities. He responds two no-trump for this reason."

Oswald: "South rather likes his weak two bid and rebids three clubs. This shows that his hand is near the upper range and indicates that club strength is a feature of his hand. Of course this club strength might only be the king. Fine if it happens to be ace and king."

Jim: "This encouragement is all North needs. He checks for aces by means of Blackwood, and continues to the slam."

Oswald: "It would take very bad breaks to defeat this slam. With the actual good breaks, it turns out to be a laydown."

A—Bid three spades. If your partner can't make this, your opponents probably would make three clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of passing three clubs your partner doubles West. What do you do in this case?

Volunteers Make Candy for Needy

By JERR YCURRY
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Volunteer workers have made almost a million packages of candy to help win the war of the children in Viet Nam.

About 175 employees of Sunline, Inc., a St. Louis candy manufacturer, worked 12 hours without pay Saturday because of a request from the United States Information Agency and U.S. Army Maj. Donald W. Cameron, an adviser at Thu Duc, South Viet Nam.

"I worked because I felt that if one little child was helped I was well paid," said volunteer Mrs. Earl Wood of suburban Webster Groves.

Spokesmen said the company shipped about three million packages of its candy to South Viet Nam several months ago for distribution. Doctors ground it up with aspirin to make the medicine more palatable for the Vietnamese children.

The candies are penny-sized, fruit-flavored tablets packaged in foil.

Cameron wrote: "This small act of kindness brought happiness to many, many children, some of whom had never before received a gift. If you decide to send another shipment, the children of Thu Duc would be most grateful if you would consider them."

American Taxpayer Carries Formidable Load Of Taxpayers

If there is truth in the adage that "that government is best that governs least," this is becoming the worst governed country in the world as well as the most governed.

The U. S. News & World Report, with its usual thoroughness, has looked up the figures. They are startling. During the past decade, according to this research, employment in government at all levels increased 29 per cent compared with a 16 per cent advance in other non-farm jobs. Payrolls during that period grew from $36.3 billion to 68 billion, nearly double the rate in private enterprise. Today, there are, exclusive of those in military service, 10,000,000 persons holding public jobs.

"Government today," the account says, "is the nation's greatest growth industry. Bigger growth lies ahead as the Great Society tries to take over. Growth, too, is stirred by rising pay for government service with a scramble by politicians to create more and more jobs to fill. One job in five now is a government job."

Stated another way, every four gainfully employed Americans carry a public employee on their shoulders, a load which must be perilously close to the breaking point. — The Wheeling (W. Va.) Intelligencer

Rejecting New Coins

Now we know. Those new, silverless quarters really work — sometimes. Hand one to a clerk or cashier in payment for a purchase and it will be dutifully accepted, just as the experts said it would. And sometimes — but only sometimes — they'll work in vending machines and other coin-operated devices. Drop one in a pay telephone for a toll call and chances are good you'll be rewarded with a resounding clong, quite as though you'd used a silver coin. They also work well, so we're told, in one-armed bandits at gambling casinos, at least so far as going into the machine is concerned.

But in laundromats, juke boxes and various vending machines, in some they work, but in others they just clunk on through the coin return slot, rejected. Which simply proves, as we see it, that with machines as with people, some are better able than others to distinguish a phony coin from a real one. — Biloxi-Gulfport (Miss.) Daily Herald

Fulbright Won't Press Inquiries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright said today his Senate Foreign Relations Committee will not press its inquiries into President Johnson's Viet Nam policy until the United Nations has debated the administration's new peace effort.

"If this starts debate in the United Nations," the Arkansas Democrat said, "the administration should have full opportunity to submit its case."

But Fulbright, who wanted the administration to lengthen the now-shattered lull in bombing of North Viet Nam, said there remains "grave apprehension" in Congress about the air war and other facets of Johnson's policy.

There was also substantial backing on Capitol Hill for Johnson's decision to loose new air strikes on the Communist North.

The Foreign Relations Committee, of which Fulbright is chairman, delayed today's scheduled return of Secretary of State Dean Rusk for renewed questioning about Southeast Asia.

Fulbright said he anticipates no new Viet Nam policy hearings until the end of U.N. debate on the peace conference call sounded at Johnson's order.

The Security Council meets today on a resolution presented by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, aimed at "a durable peace in Southeast Asia." It calls for discussions among interested nations to point the way toward a cease-fire, with a supervised cease-fire in Viet Nam as the first step toward ending the war.

Worst Storm in 50 Years Hits 3 States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worst snowstorm in nearly 50 years pounded southern Ohio today and spread into Virginia after weaving a snow-strewn path across Kentucky from the Plains.

Deaths attributable to the severe weather across the nation the last few days reached 145, including 47 persons who died in fires and heating accidents. Another 33 perished from exposure to the cold. The others died in traffic accidents on slick roads and from heart attacks caused by overexertion.

The storm dumped more than 12 inches of snow along the Ohio River to southwestern Illinois.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for most of the Ohio Valley and central Appalachian area.

The storm struck southern Ohio with a fury Tuesday, jammed traffic, closed schools and stranded workers. The snow fell at the rate of 2 to 3 inches an hour part of the day.

The Weather Bureau said 13 inches of snow covered Cincinnati, including 10 inches which fell Tuesday.

Cincinnati stores closed in midafternoon. The University of Cincinnati suspended classes and many southern Ohio schools were shut down early.

Major hotels were jammed by midafternoon by workers who couldn't get home. Basketball games and meetings were canceled.

A 40-mile-per-hour speed limit was posted on the Ohio Turnpike from Fremont-Por t Clinton to the Pennsylvania line.

The snow ranged from 4 to 12 inches in southern Illinois, southern Indiana and southern Ohio, and in parts of eastern Missouri and most of northern Kentucky.

At Louisville, Ky., and at Belleville, Ill., across the river from St. Louis, snow measured 12 inches; Dayton, Ohio, counted 10 inches; Evansville, Ind., 9 inches; and Indianapolis 5. Snow, sleet and freezing rain covered a large section of Kentucky and parts of eastern Tennessee and south-central West Virginia.

The heaviest snowstorm in more than 40 years moved into as with people, some are better able than others to distinguish a phony coin from a real one.

The snow in Louisville was the worst since Jan. 14, 1918, when 10.4 inches covered the ground.

No Power in Parts of Hempstead

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Three power failures within a five-hour span left residents of Nashville and seven surrounding communities without electric power for 81 minutes.

Ralph Wilson, manager of the Southwestern Electric Power Co. office here, said the failure resulted from multiple troubles in a substation near Nashville. An insulator at the delivery point of the substation exploded during an electrical storm Monday night, he said.

Wilson said the insulator explosion was considered a factor in the blackout.

He said the power failure affected Nashville, Center Point, Dierks, McCaskill, Blevins, Washington, Ozan and Fulton.

The first blackout happened at 8:12 p.m. Monday with power restored at 8:38. The other failures followed at 9:15 p.m. and 12:21 a.m. Tuesday, lasting 21 minutes and 34 minutes respectively.

Two Killed in Newport Wreck

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—Two men were killed Tuesday in a car-truck collision on U.S. 67 about five miles south of Newport.

State Troopers Scott Brown and Bill Manes identified the dead as Carl J. Hawk, 50, and L. E. Joyner, who was 51 last Saturday, both of Griffithsville (White County).

Officers said Hawk was the driver of the car which struck a truck driven by John Looney, 33, of Newport.

WASHINGTON BURIED—The worst storm in years buried the nation's capital under 12 inches of snow. Heavy drifts blocked streets.

Thinks Best Way to Improve a Wife Is Simply to Stay Married to Her If You Can

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The best way to improve a wife is to stay married to her.

Some things don't improve much with age. Wives are an exception. The longer they are married the better persons they become. Of course this may not hold true in all cases — but it is the general rule.

A 10-year-old automobile is about ready for the junk pile. Its glass is gone. It creaks and squeaks. Its performance is faulty, and it costs too much to have it overhauled.

Some men think wives are like that. Since it is illegal to throw a wife on a junk pile, they dispose of her in some more orderly manner, and get a new model.

But they are wrong. A wife is not like an automobile at all. Ten years later she is still the altar she is just beginning to show her merit.

Every year after that she gets better and more useful to her husband. After 15 or 20 years she may need an occasional repair job, but she is certainly well worth it. After 25 years a wife becomes an indispensable woman. A wise husband then begins to treat her as a member of the family.

After all, she has earned the right. It is only her due, and high time a husband quit mistaking that she salute him whenever he comes into the room.

She may still believe that money grows on trees, but she realizes that kind of tree doesn't grow in your back yard.

It she continues to think candlelight dinners at home are romantic, she goes ahead and lights the candles herself instead of bothering you about them.

If she finds a blonde hair on your coat, she doesn't make a big scene. She knows some dame just brushed against you on the bus. On the dough you make how could you even afford to buy the first twig to build a love nest?

She never asks to be taken anywhere on weekends between September and mid-January. She accepts the fact that every red blooded male's place is at these times is before a television set drinking beer and watching football games.

If her vacuum cleaner breaks down, she doesn't ask you to fix it. That way lies madness. She fixes it herself.

Three Accidents, Damage Minor

Three accidents, all minor, were investigated by city police yesterday. One occurred on a parking lot at the James McCarley garage and involved four cars.

Officers R. Rowe, Shirley and Neal said an auto driven by Grover Sanford of Texarkana in a car, running it into two others. The cars were owned by Mary Jean Cox, Weldon Cole and James McCarley. Only minor damage resulted and no charges were filed.

At Division and Main yesterday autos driven by H. W. Hatcher and C. A. McCalhoun collided with minor front-end damage as the result. Officers J. Rowe and McCulley investigated.

David H. Norvell was charged with improper passing when in passing on Hervey and Avenue U he collided with another vehicle driven by J. E. Anderson. Only fender damage resulted. Officers Long and McCulley investigated.

Burglar Least of His Worries

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When Melvin Sweeney thought he heard a burglar in his apartment, he didn't know then that would be the least of his worries.

He fired four shots with a rifle, police said. One hit the family dog, two others slammed into the kitchen wall.

The fourth punctured a gas pipe leading to the kitchen stove.

At that point Mrs. Sweeney decided to investigate. She went into the kitchen with a cigarette that ignited the leaking gas flames.

Judge Orie Byers Seeking Re-election

Judge Orie O. Byers announced today that he would be a candidate for re-election to the office of Hempstead County Judge. In making his formal announcement Judge Byers said:

"I am deeply grateful for the splendid support which I received when I was elected County Judge. I have tried to show my appreciation by giving the citizens of our county a sound, business-like administration.

I have continued to improve all our county roads, and have been fortunate through cooperating with the State, in securing more hard surfaced roads for our county road system, and indications are that further progress will be achieved in the next few years.

The county has cooperated with all other county and state agencies through which the Red River Vocational and Technical School was assured for Hempstead County, and is now ready for construction, and with other projects under consideration at this time. I have been fortunate in having the surplus commodity program continued for citizens of our county.

The County Judge is the presiding officer of the Juneville Court. In this capacity, I have endeavored to work with the peace officer, ministers and the parents of children who get into trouble and come before the Juvenile Court. This takes time and patience, but is well worth the effort if young people can be rehabilitated.

I believe the experience that I have gained further qualifies me to do an even better job in the future. I would like to continue the sound financial program which has been started for our county. I appreciate my friends in this county more than I can say, and will continue to show my gratitude by being an honest and hard working public official. I solicit the continued support and good will of all the citizens of Hempstead County in the coming Democratic Primary Election."

Orie O. Byers

Time Now to Order Girl Scout Cookies

Girl Scouts in Hope will join with the 4,000 other Girl Scouts in Center Council on February 4 as they kick-off their annual cookie sale. Girls will be taking orders on five varieties of cookies from February 4-12. Parents are asked to sign the work permission slips which their sons have and to return the slips to their scout leaders.

Proceeds from the sale are used both locally and throughout Center Council to expand camping facilities and provide other opportunities. Girls who sell 25 boxes or over attend a special awards branch in their unit.

Regular Bureau Meet Cancelled

The Hempstead County Farm Bureau meeting which was originally scheduled for Thursday night, February 3, will not be held due to the annual membership drive which is now in progress. A check up meeting will be held next week, according to Lester Kent, President.

France Helps Russia Keep War Out of UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP) — The United States may succeed in putting its Viet Nam case before the Security Council today, but an American proposal that the council sponsor peace negotiations appeared doomed.

Jordan held the answer to whether the 15-nation council would debate the issue at all. By Tuesday night the United States had mustered only eight of the nine affirmative votes required to place the issue on the agenda.

Waleed Sadi of Jordan asked the council to postpone decision on the debate until today so his government could instruct him whether to support the U.S. request for debate on its proposal that the council sponsor preparatory talks to set up a Viet Nam peace conference.

Even if the proposal goes up for debate, opposition led by the Soviet Union and France virtually killed any chance of the United States getting the council to take a hand in a Viet Nam peace settlement.

The big-power veto does not apply to procedural questions such as putting items on the agenda. But it does apply to substantive proposals such as setting up a peace parley.

About all the United States can hope for is a chance to air its peace efforts before the council and try to lay the blame for failure of those efforts at the door of the Communists.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg has introduced a resolution calling on the council to arrange discussions with interested governments on holding a conference that could lead to peace in Viet Nam and all Southeast Asia.

Soviet reaction to Goldberg's opening appeal Tuesday made plain that the U.S. proposal would run into a Soviet veto, even if it mustered the nine affirmative votes needed for adoption.

Goldberg called on the council to help open a new way to peace. He defended the resumption of U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam as the only course open because of Hanoi's refusal to respond to U.S. peace overtures. He proposed that representatives of both North and South Viet Nam be invited to take part in council deliberations.

"What is at stake here is not the United States position," Goldberg said. "We have brought the matter to the council. What is at stake is: How will the world judge the council if it refuses even to consider that problem which public opinion almost everywhere considers to be the most serious threat to peace now confronting mankind?"

Becker Talks Here for TH Revision

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — J. Bill Becker said Tuesday that section 14b of the Taft Hartley Act has kept Arkansas among the poorest states in the nation in per capita income, social legislation and economic advancement.

Becker, president of the Arkansas State AFL-CIO, told a Hope civic club that proponents of the law use the issues of states rights and individuals as decoys.

"It is no accident that the states with the highest income and the highest economic advancement are those states which do not have compulsory open shop laws," Becker said.

The section of the act permits states to enact laws forbidding union shops. Arkansas is one of 19 states which has the law. Becker said such laws "take away the rights of the majority and reward a free-loading minority. The cost of serving the sponger is placed on the shoulders of the dues paying union member."

Cong Losses in Day of Fighting Counted 1,000

By THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist losses were reckoned today at more than 1,100 killed or captured in Operation Masher, the big Allied drive in the central coastal plains. U.S. military spokesmen reported. They called it one of the bloodiest fights of the Vietnamese war.

U.S. fighter-bombers continued the renewed air war against North Viet Nam for the third consecutive day, hitting mainly at bridges, railroad tracks, truck convoys and storage areas. Bad weather again hampered assessment of damage.

Jets from 7th Fleet carriers flew 20 combat missions and Air Force planes hit Ben Thuy, the port on the South China Sea for the city of Vinh, 160 miles south of Hanoi, for the second day in a row, spokesmen said.

U.S. air cavalrymen, South Vietnamese paratroopers and South Koreans carried Operation Masher into the ninth day in a 13-mile-square battleground around Bong Son, 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Spokesmen said the Allied troops found several hundred more enemy bodies.

Pryor Would Like More Candidates

LEWISVILLE, Ark. (AP) —Rep. David Pryor of Ouachita County said Tuesday that "the more candidates we have in this race for Congress, the better it will be for everyone."

Pryor, who addressed a civic club here, has filed as a candidate in the March 15 special Democratic primary, the first step toward getting a successor for Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark.

Harris resigns his House seat today and takes the oath as a federal judge in El Dorado Thursday.

Pryor said more candidates in the race would be good because debate, discussion and dialogue are healthy.

"If political participation is below our dignity as Americans, then we may find in the next generation that democracy will be beyond our grasp," Pryor said.

Clear Skies, Sunshine in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clearing skies and sunshine over most of the state today brought a welcome relief from the snow and icy conditions that have covered Arkansas during the last few days.

The northern section of the state continue to get snow until around 7 p.m. Tuesday, but reporting stations in the area said skies started clearing by 8 p.m.

However, ice up to half an inch deep made driving hazardous and automobiles still required chains in the northern areas. Some schools in Madison, Benton, Carroll and Washington counties remained closed for the day.

Reporting stations near Eureka Springs said transportation was at a virtual standstill due to the ice that covered roads and highways.

Most of the snow and ice melted in the central sections of Arkansas.

The forecast called for decreasing cloudiness tonight with continued cold temperatures.

High temperatures Tuesday ranged from 31 at Harrison to 54 at Texarkana.

January Tax Take Sets New Record

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A record $6.8 million in state sales taxes was collected in January, Revenue Commissioner Doris McCastlain said Monday.

The previous record was the $6.67 million collected last August.

Mrs. McCastlain said her department collected $21.4 million from 51 tax sources and $10.7 million from special revenues.
